BERLIN.

Mrs. E. H. House visited at Mrs. Emma Bailey's a part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Cochran and daughter, Miss Lizzie, visited relatives in Northfield Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Benedict and Mr. and Mrs. Will Boat of Barre were recent visitors at J. C. Webb's.

The young people of the church gave an entertainment in the town hall on Wednesday night, which netted them $24.

The ladies' aid society met with Mrs. Levi Bailey last Thursday, preparing for a fair, which they will hold in the near future.

Mrs. Carrie Simmes and daughter, who have been visiting Mrs. Simmes' sister, Mrs. W. P. Reed, have returned to their home in Exeter, N. H.

The remains of Frank Andrews, who died in Maiden, Mass., were brought to the home of his sister, Mrs. C. T. Crandall, where the funeral was held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with burial in the corner cemetery. Mr. Andrews was born in Berlin, the son of Deacon William and Lucy Ann (Benjamin) Andrews. He is survived by a wife, two sisters and one brother, two uncles, two aunts and a number of cousins.

MOTHER WAS WISE

Built Up Boy's Strength Instead of Giving Cough Syrup.

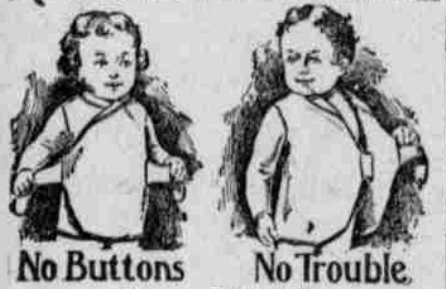

A lingering cough is a sure sign of weakness in a child, and the sensible thing is to build up the system. Then the cough will disappear.

But if the child has no appetite, then it needs Vinol, which has not a particle of the nasty, greasy smell and taste that make children hate cod liver oil. Vinol is so pleasant they like to take it, and it builds them up wonderfully.

Mrs. R. Inza of New York City says: "My little boy had a very bad cough for two months. I did not like to give him cough syrups, for many of them are not good for children. But I did give him your delicious cod liver and iron remedy, Vinol, and one bottle caused him to cough to disappear entirely and restored him to health."

We guarantee that Vinol will build up and strengthen weak, pale children and all rundown persons of every age. If it does not do all we claim, we give back your money. Red Cross Pharmacy, Burt H. Wells, Prop., Barre, Vt.

CHELSEA.

Alden Bacon of Barre spent several days in town last week as the guest of his brothers, Charles A. and Will E. Bacon.

Mrs. Love Ann Doyle, who has kept house during the past four years for her brother, Gilman Sanborn, has returned to Barre City, where she formerly lived.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Kingsbury of West Fairlee were in town over Sunday and were guests of Mrs. Kingsbury's brother, Leonard I. Thompson, and family.

Jasper Taylor, who is a student at the agricultural school at Randolph Center, spent a few days recently at the home of his father, Noah C. Taylor, on the Washington stage road.

Among the business visitors from out of town, who were here on Monday, were Carlos J. Kingsbury and Lee R. Kingsbury of Washington, and Ernest Riddell and John Granaghan of Williamstown.

At the special meeting of the local grange held last Friday evening the first and second degrees were conferred upon nine candidates and at the regular meeting, which will be held Friday evening of this week, the third and fourth degrees will be conferred.

At the annual meeting of the Tyrian club, which was held recently at their rooms in Mattison & Townsend's block on Church street, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Dr. Fred L. Beckwith; vice-president, Will A. Hood; secretary and treasurer, Harry R. Wishart; executive committee, H. N. Mattison, O. D. Tracy and W. A. Hood.

"Aunt" Louise Clough passed her eighty-second milestone Monday, when several of her friends called on her at her home on Wallace avenue, many of them leaving tokens of their love and esteem, and she was also the recipient of a large shower of postal cards. Notwithstanding her advanced age, she enjoys very good health, retains her faculties and does the housework for her grandson, Wesley Underhill, with whom she lives.

Lee Kingsbury, who lives near the Chelsea line in the south west part of Washington, has sold his farm, known as the Gilbert O. Smith farm, which is situated in the corner of Williamstown near both the Washington and Chelsea lines, to John Granaghan of Williamstown. Consideration, $950. Mr. Granaghan arrived in this country from Belfast, Ireland, a few months since and, liking this country, has decided to make this his home and take up farming, which is entirely new to him, he having made his life work that of pork packing.

The first game of real football probably ever played in Chelsea was pulled off last Saturday afternoon between the local high school team and a team made up from the local sporting men who styled themselves "the all Americans."

It was a contest between light and heavy weights, the latter winning the game, 7 to 0, by sheer strength. No bones were really broken although several noses were seriously bent and twisted and some blood was spilled, yet whatever bruises and abrasions were received were accepted in good part and the best of feeling, because it was "football."

Dr. A. T. Marshall refereed the game, declaring the "All Americans" the winning team.

The funeral of Fernando Perkins, whose death was chronicled last week, was held from the Congregational church Friday afternoon, Rev. John A. Lawrence officiating, and the services were in charge of Herbert O. Bixby. Interment was in the family lot in Highland cemetery, and the bearers were his son, J. Oliver Perkins, Frank E. Bixby, Ernest A. Corwin and Leslie H. Bohannon. Mr. Perkins was sixty-six years old and is survived by the widow and one son, J. Oliver Perkins, both of this town; also one brother, Nathan Perkins of Lowell, Mass., and one brother, who resides in the West.

SOUTH CABOT.

Mrs. L. J. Eastman was in North Danville last Saturday.

Fred Allen's mill is to be shut down during the deer season.

Mrs. L. E. Walbridge, who has been on the sick list, is better.

Eugene Putnam had the misfortune to lose his only cow last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Aro Slayton of Calais were in this place over Sunday.

Joe Jock and family of Lyndonville are stopping at W. L. Swain's for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Burnham of Calais were recent guests at Warren Swain's.

Ernest Bonis of St. Johnsbury visited his sister, Mrs. David Colbert, a few days last week.

Dighton Hall, who has been in Worcester hunting and trapping, returned home Saturday.

Mrs. C. M. Lamberton has been in Hampton Falls, N. H., the past week, visiting her niece, Mrs. James Clegg.

Mrs. W. J. Houghton has finished work for Samuel Chandler and returned home, and Mrs. L. O. Houghton has gone there to work for a while.

WOLCOTT.

Mrs. Julia Prince died Monday of heart trouble.

Mrs. Julia Prince died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. E. Ransom, of heart trouble. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. W. E. Ransom of this place and Mrs. A. O. Downing of Hardwick.

Alice Bullard has returned home from East Fairfield.

Ethel Douglass has finished work at W. L. Richardson's.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Sargent were guests at Dr. Rublee's Sunday.

W. L. Richardson has rented the Congregational parsonage recently vacated by F. L. Willis.

Frank Willis has concluded his engagement with H. P. Hood and sons and has hired out to T. G. Bronson at Hardwick.

Starts Much Trouble.

If all people knew that neglect of constipation would result in severe indigestion, yellow jaundice or violent liver trouble, they would soon take Dr. King's New Life Pills, and end it. It's the only safe way. Best for biliousness, headache, dyspepsia, chills and debility. 25c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar, if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory, or money refunded.

MONTPELIER.

G. H. Grimm Co. Files Articles of Association.

The G. H. Grimm company of Rutland has filed articles of association with the secretary of state. The company has a capital stock of $100,000 and will deal in evaporators, sugar-making utensils, tinware, machinery, etc. The signers are all Rutland men.

Timothy Casey, who was arraigned in city court yesterday for intoxication, disclosed on a stranger, but Judge Harvey sent him back to jail to think up a better story, telling him that one had been worn out.

The funeral of John B. Thompson, father of J. M. Thompson, was held from his late home in Waitsfield yesterday, Rev. W. A. Remele and Rev. F. H. Roberts officiating. The bearers were two sons and two sons-in-law, J. M. and J. D. Thompson, Henry Wood and F. D. Waterman.

The building in the rear of Christ church and owned by the society, which was partially destroyed by fire last summer, is being razed by E. C. Gitchell, he having purchased it from R. B. Denny, with the understanding that it shall be removed within thirty days. Mr. Gitchell will use the lumber in his stonemason and for fuel in his concrete business.

The board of trade held a meeting last night and Calvin L. Farmer and W. D. Walker were admitted to membership. The board took up the matter of the poor gasoline on sale in Vermont, auto owners and others complaining that a poorer grade is sold in this state than in others. The transportation committee was authorized to investigate the matter and see if a better quality cannot be obtained here.

Mayor S. S. Ballard has received a letter from C. D. Shock of one of the Cincinnati fire companies, announcing the death of Charles Deming Collins, said to be formerly of this city, and asking that a sister and aunt, who live here, be notified. No one can be found who has heard of Mr. Collins and who the sister and aunt are is so far unknown. It is thought perhaps that they lived in a nearby town and received their mail here.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"Through Fire and Smoke," a Selig Fire Drama That Is Exceedingly Real.

Tom Gaylor, a handsome fireman, played by Mr. Santschi, and Betty St. Claire, a pretty factory girl, played by Miss Harte, are engaged to be married and each morning they exchange confidences of their separate ways to enter on the day's work. One of these mornings, Betty meets Herbert Crane (played by Mr. Rawlinson), who is the manager of her department in the factory. He accompanies her to the factory and the girl's heart dances with excitement as he appears on the floor with her in sight of the other girls.

Herbert is seen lingering a moment beside Betty's machine on the factory floor, where hundreds of girls are employed making overalls. As he is about to leave, he accidentally brushes against a newly painted can which leaves its traces on his otherwise immaculate coat. He becomes very angry at this and immediately goes to the storeroom to remove the spots with gasoline. He lights the gas, but has no more than begun his task, when he is called outside to settle some complaint. The uncorked bottle is left standing under the gas jet.

Then comes the inevitable explosion and we see the window glass break and doors crash from their casings. In a moment the big room is filled with stifling smoke, pandemonium reigns supreme, and the terrified girls rush madly for the elevator and stairways.

After one trip the elevator fails to run and the windows offer the only possible chance for escape. Already the stairway and elevator shaft are one seething mass of flames—and we watch one girl after another drop from sight to serious injury or certain death.

Tom's engine house has received the first alarm, and we see the expression on his face as he realizes that Betty's life is in danger. We see the firemen slide down the poles, jump into their coats, the hitchup and within a few seconds they are out of their barn and racing madly toward the scene of action.

Again our scene changes back to the panic stricken girls in the blazing factory. Betty has found a rope and rushes toward one of the windows to effect her escape—but Herbert proves himself a true hero by wrenching the rope from the girl's hands in order to save his own skin. By this time Tom has arrived and in a jiffy a ladder run up to the windows. His position is indeed perilous, but he gamely climbs the ladder, fights his way through the flame and smoke and returns with his loved one in his arms.

The principal scenes in this picture were secured during the great Byrne building fire in Los Angeles recently. The Selig company were on hand with their cameras and camera men as soon as the fire department itself arrived upon the scene. The Selig company had an arrangement with the fire department whereby they were allowed to work in the very midst of the conflagration, and Mr. Santschi and Miss Harte risked their lives to secure the great rescue scene which is a thrilling feature of this reel. It will be many years before a fire picture equal to this one will be secured. It's at Dreamland.

HOUSING WINTER LAYERS.

Feeds for the Pullets, and Other Suggestions.

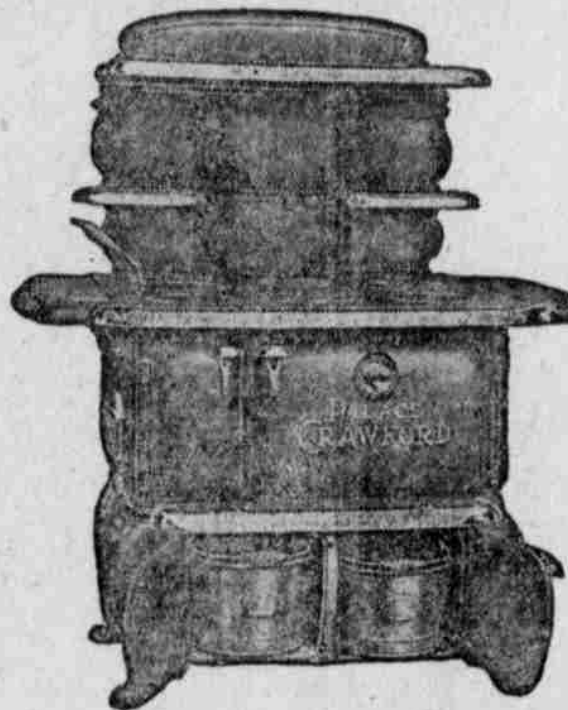

At this time of the year care should be exercised in housing the pullets that are to be the winter layers. One great mistake many make is in underfeeding and feeding improper food. Growing fowls cannot be expected to do their best in healthy development, if not fed properly and given plenty of food. The theory that one can overfeed the growing pullets has been exploded, and many a flock has been retarded by underfeeding. In some cases, they are fed enough, but not of the proper kind to produce the best results, says the Philadelphia Record.

To get the flock as a whole in laying condition in the time required by the breed or variety, the fowls must be properly grown from chickhood. It should be remembered that every chick the flock gets in poor feeding or housing will take just that much longer for mature development. Thus Leghorns that should be laying as a flock between five and six months from shell, if not properly grown, would be from two to four weeks later, or longer, according to the check, or perhaps several chicks received from chickhood up. The up-to-date poultry raiser realizes through experience that his flock must have a steady growth, and leaves no stone unturned to obtain results by careful handling. The flock is well housed, well fed and never overcrowded.

The beginner, through inexperience, cannot always successfully do just the things the other breeder sometimes does

The best way to carry Ashes is in a Hod!

Crawford Ranges

Have an Ash Hod in the base into which all the ashes fall far below the fire. They can't bank against the grates and warp them, and they can be emptied easily without spilling.

The Coal Hod is alongside the Ash Hod—out of the way. This feature is a wonderful labor and trouble saver and is patented.

Another trouble-saver of the Crawford is the patented Single Damper. One motion—slide the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check"—the range does the rest. No damper mistakes.

The Oven has cup-joint heat flues that heat it alike in all parts.

Ask the Crawford agent to show you and write us for circular.
